

unILINK

August 16, 2018

Solidarity solves another strike. This time in Thunder Bay! Get your employer to support pharmacare, celebrate new Unifor members, and explore what the future of work means for you. Plus we tackle racism in Halifax and fight for pensions.

WHAT'S HOT

Unifor solidarity forced the employer back to the table, and now 65 women at the Port

TAKE ACTION

Call on your employer to support a public, national pharmacare

Arthur Health Centre have a new collective agreement. 129 day strike is over!

READ MORE

program using this joint union-employer letter.

READ MORE

IN THE NEWS

More than 600 workers at five workplaces in Ontario and Nova Scotia have just joined Unifor!

READ MORE

Members from across the country attended the Automation, New Technology and the Future of Work conference yesterday.

Experts and activists engage in a panel discussion about the labour movement's role in tackling racism and Islamophobia.

READ MORE

READ MORE

Mobile app launches to help delegates connect with each other and get the most out of Canadian Council.

READ MORE

Calling on the Minister of Transportation to veto bylaw changes that would open Nav Canada's management to non-Canadians.

READ MORE

BARGAINING UPDATES

Workers at the Canadian Linen plant ratified a new three-year collective agreement in Moncton and Dartmouth.

READ MORE

Workers at a small credit union celebrate a big win after saving their Defined Benefit pension.

READ MORE

IN CASE YOU MISSED IT

Watch what happened when 65

RESOURCES

Engage young workers through an existing women and hundreds of supporters went live on Facebook in Thunder Bay.

READ MORE

young workers' committee or create a new
one. Then keep the momentum going.

READ MORE

