

May 25, 2023

Groupe de Scieries workers fight a lockout at four mill locations in eastern Quebec.
Unifor women build solidarity through the union's Sisterhood Outreach program.
Newfoundland and Labrador snow crab fishery underway following tie-up over pricing dispute. Plus: Read Unifor's Paramedic Services Week statement.

 WHAT'S HOT

 TAKE ACTION

Skilled Trades members from across Canada united at the Unifor Skilled Trades Collective Bargaining and New Technology Conference in February to discuss common issues and develop strategies to improve and grow the trades.

WATCH VIDEO

Protect New Brunswick's Policy 713!
Premier Blaine Higgs is rolling back queer and trans rights in New Brunswick, and workers must stop him.

READ MORE

IN THE NEWS

More than 100 members have been locked out by Groupe de Scieries at four mill locations in eastern Quebec.

READ MORE

Unifor's Sisterhood Outreach: Strengthening Women's Committees program is making stops across the country, building and supporting women of the union through local programming.

READ MORE

After a crisis that delayed the start of the snow crab fishing season in Newfoundland, FFAW-Unifor secured a commitment from Premier Andrew Furey to review the process for setting the price of crab to avoid future tie-ups.

READ MORE

One of the ways Unifor will celebrate its decade of strength and resilience is building up the worker power through a grassroots bargaining strategy.

READ MORE

IN CASE YOU MISSED IT

As we celebrate Paramedic Services Week, Unifor recognized with pride the vital contributions of emergency medical services workers who provide critical care and support to Canadians every day.

RESOURCES

Register your local union's team to be part of the relay race raising money for the Tears to Hope Society.

READ MORE

READ MORE